BACKGROUND

COMPANY HISTORY

In 2007 Kariega International Consulting (KIC) was incorporated in Port Elizabeth with a strategy to provide foreign multinational companies with quality business and finance administration solutions. Since its incorporation, the company serviced customers in North America, Latin America, Europe, India and across Africa.

Over a period of time it became increasingly clear that there was a tremendous need for comprehensive business solution services, especially among Small to Medium Sized Enterprises (SMEs) and in bigger organizations on a project basis. It was also clear that this phenomenon was not industry or region specific with an abundance of opportunities to be of service globally and in domestic, South African markets.

As part of this company's vision to provide a comprehensive service suite, including finance, marketing and IT solutions, KIC was rebranded as Hyperion Business Solutions (HBS) in 2015. At the same time and with this vision in mind, HBS started an association with Undercurrent Studios and its principal, Peter-David Douglas. It was soon clear that there were natural synergies and a shared vision. On 1 July 2015 Hyperion Studios was launched as Marketing Division of HBS with Mr Douglas assuming control of the division as Creative Director.

Throughout KIC's history in the Latin American markets, it worked closely with an IT solutions provider, MainTech. MainTech is entrenched at a global level, offering its services to and from almost any place, worldwide. On 1 September 2015 the principal of MainTech, Mr Samuel Toyber, was appointed as IT Director of Hyperion Technologies, the IT division of HBS, specifically to service multinational clients.

These were the first steps towards offering a full scope business solution package through HBS and Hyperion Unlimited's Network of Associated Companies.

WHAT WE DO

HBS offers a comprehensive business solution package from its offices in the Eastern Cape and Western Cape, South Africa and Miami, USA. As a direct result of the company's history and the experience of its principal, it continues to serve the international business community along with domestic markets.

STRATEGY & VISION

MISSION STATEMENT

HBS provides business support services as an active member of our client's team, assuming responsibility for the full scope of assigned duties up to and including deployment and measurement of success.

VALUES

Diligence, skill, ethics, and strong personal relationships stand at the core of our values.

Consultants often take a clinical approach where they provide advice but do not assume responsibility for the practical implementation of their advice. While we do study, analyse, report and advise, we also offer our services to become part of the client's team, assuming responsibility for execution of planned strategies.

Our value system and success will be what sets us apart from other service providers.

BUSINESS GOALS & OBJECTIVES

The short term goals are to aggressively market our services and prove our value to clients. Many SMEs do not have the financial capacity or organizational readiness to employ top business and financial managers on a full time basis. In larger companies, the available resources to address specific projects and opportunities are often a constraint.

We will provide an accessible, quality service on a continuous or project basis, becoming part of the team, for as long as it takes to analyse and deploy solutions.

Our long term goal is to establish Hyperion Unlimited: a strong, reliable global association of professional services providers that share our vision and values. Hyperion Unlimited will offer a global “One Stop Shop” of comprehensive business solutions covering the 5 pillars of strategic business management:

1. Business & Finance
2. Marketing
3. Human Resources
4. Legal Services
5. IT Solutions, including software, hardware and infrastructure
